To Whom It May Concern,

I am happy to recommend Harsh Tomar, a talented third-year student specializing in Artificial Intelligence and Data Science. I've been fortunate enough to collaborate with Harsh on his FieldFusion project: an AI-based sports analytics system. I was impressed by Harsh's commitment and technical prowess—he attacks each challenge with a lot of enthusiasm, learning desire, and will to accomplish.

Harsh's interest in Machine Learning, Computer Vision, and AI has surpassed what one might initially expect from someone at his level. He has already developed practical, real-world applications, which speaks well of his ability to bring complex ideas into impactful projects.

Beyond his technical skills, Harsh is a hardworking and diligent learner. He is a team player—curious, very collaborative, and always looking for opportunities to grow. I am positive he will continue to innovate and bring fresh ideas to any team that he joins. I highly recommend him for any role that falls in line with his skills and interest.

Best Regards,

Yashvardhan Singh
